

SCOTCH PLAINS RESCUE SQUAD from Garden State Parkway

Getting to the Scotch Plains Rescue Squad building can be quite a challenge, mostly because the folks in that area don't believe in marking the street names on many of the roads outside the main part of town!

So I have recorded my instructions, perhaps it will help some others find the place more easily.

From the Garden State Parkway, take the INTERSTATE 78 West to exit 41

You will exit to the right and curl around and come to a cross street;

Make a Right at the cross street and go down a hill to a T intersection;

Make a Right at the T intersection and go down another steep hill;

You will come to a traffic light at a major intersection with VALLEY ROAD;

Continue forward across Valley Road intersection and you will be on BONNIE BURN ROAD (Rte. 641-S);

Go down another long steep winding hill (!);

At the bottom of the hill is a traffic light and intersection with PARK AVENUE;

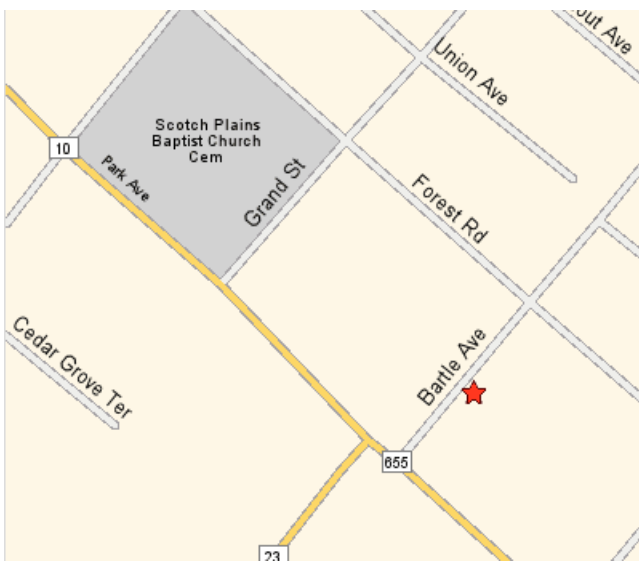

Go Right on Park Avenue, and continue over Route 22;

Stay in the Right lane, but don't go into the shopping center driveway;
come to a "sort of a T" intersection at stop sign;

Make a Right at the T
and pass thru traffic light at MOUNTAIN AVENUE (cross street);

Go past GRAND STREET on the left, then FRONT STREET on the right and a short ways further the NEXT LEFT is Bartle Avenue (opposite public park area on right).

The Rescue Squad building is just a short ways in from Park Avenue, on the right.

There is a driveway on the right just before the Rescue Squad Building (alongside the building)

DO NOT PARK IN THE AREA NEXT TO THE BUILDING – continue to the main parking area

(if you park next to the building, reserved for the ambulance crews, you will be TOWED AWAY)

Walk from the parking lot area back toward Bartle Avenue and the front of the building;

use the entrance door at the near front corner of the building, and go upstairs to the meeting area.

[last revised: 2004-12-10 at 16:15]